Lake Gogebic is Michigan's largest inland lake, which lies at the far western end of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

With abundant opportunities for fishing, hiking, hunting and winter sports, Lake Gogebic is a four-season vacation gem that - for all its attractions - retains the peaceful atmosphere of a small Northwoods community, untroubled by traffic and crowds.

Lake Gogebic's 14,000 acres of prime fishing with walleye, smallmouth bass, northern pike, jumbo perch, and pan fish provide both catches for the novice and challenges for the veteran angler. The surrounding forests offer prime hunting for deer, bear, small game and birds.

Families, couples, and outdoor sports enthusiasts will enjoy Lake Gogebic's summer hot spots for water sports, camping, sightseeing and hiking the surrounding timberland. The area is full of historic sites and natural beauty.

Wildflowers and wildlife are everywhere in spring and summer, the autumn colors are spectacular, and winters are as white and still as one can only imagine. Waterfalls abound - with some hidden deep in the woods, and others easily accessible from town. Enjoy searching out the more remote falls, while families will appreciate that Lake Superior's shores are but a short drive away.

With an annual snowfall of over 200 inches, Lake Gogebic is situated on perhaps the best snowmobile trail system in the country, extending throughout the Upper Peninsula. Cross country ski trails provide quieter passage through the woods, meanwhile four major downhill ski / snowboarding facilities are less than 30 minutes away.

The nights are frequently graced by the Northern Lights or a distant wolf's cry. In town, the dress is casual and the attitudes friendly.
